This past week, the City of San Francisco welcomed over 40,000 attendees to Moscone Center for the annual Dreamforce Conference by Salesforce. Dreamforce was the largest conference in San Francisco since the Covid19 pandemic began. Throughout the week, San Francisco Police Officers were brought in on their days off to ensure the safety of conference attendees and visitors around Moscone Center and the surrounding area. Because of the hard work and dedication of Police Officers, we did not see any significant incidents occur in or around the Dreamforce event which showed that San Francisco is a city that is ready to welcome back visitors and conference attendees. We want to thank other city departments, especially our City Ambassadors, who worked in partnership with us to make this a safe and successful week. San Francisco is a world-class destination for tourists and business travelers alike, and the San Francisco Police Department is here to help ensure that all our visitors have a safe and enjoyable visit to our beautiful city.
