The San Francisco Police Department hosted the Officer of the Month Ceremony at City Hall on Wednesday to recognize police officers who went beyond the call of duty, showing bravery, professionalism, and compassion in their work.

January

- Officer Fernanda Urrieta-Perez and Officer Boahene Yeboah-Afari of Central Station
- Officer Kellyn Alvarez-Morales of Mission Station

Officers Urrieta, Yeboah, and Alvarez exemplified the highest standards of police service. Their coordinated response, compassion for an injured assault victim, effective suspect apprehension, and thorough investigation reflect great credit upon themselves and the SFPD values.

February

- Officer Nicholas Nagai of Mission Station

Officer Nagai was recognized for successfully de-escalating a potentially suicidal individual. Officer Nagai utilized specialized, calm communication techniques and active listening, which ultimately saved the life of the subject. His efforts also ensured the safety of other officers.

March

- Officer John Ching and Officer David Boyle of the Field Training Office
- Officer Albert Johnson of the Strategic Investigations Unit

A person plummeted backward onto the pavement from a crowded Muni platform, striking her head and becoming unresponsive within seconds. Officers Ching and Boyle reacted immediately. While officers rendered aid to the victim, they quickly identified and detained a possible suspect seen walking away from the scene. Responding officers and investigators coordinated investigations in real time. Their swift actions led to the arrest of a suspect.
