Captain John Jaimerena's Message

Friday December 8, 2017

Hello Northern Community,

The holiday season is upon us, and Northern Station Officers are out on the streets doing their best to keep our community safe. There has been a nationwide increase in thefts of packages delivered by USPS, FedEx, UPS, Amazon, etc. Follow these tips to help reduce this trend.

Have deliveries delivered to your workplace.

Require a delivery signature.

Reroute or reschedule deliveries to when someone is home.

Amazon offers a "Amazon Locker" service where your packages can be delivered to a secure locker at a nearby convenience store.

Install a front door cameras. These cameras can be a great deterrent or can provide useful evidence to the police if a package is stolen.

See something say something.

Thanks, Captain JJ

Captain John Jaimerena

Definition of Suspicious Activity

Suspicious activity is any observed behavior that could indicate a crime-related incident has been committed, or about to be committed. Unusual items or situations: A vehicle is parked in an odd location, a package/luggage is unattended, a window/door is open that is usually closed, or other out-of-the-ordinary situations occur.

Examples of Suspicious Activity:

- ◆ An individual peering into vehicles, to try, and locate any valuables left unattended.
- ◆ An individual trying door handles to vehicles, and/or residences to gain access to the vehicle and/ or residence.
- ◆ An individual checking front doors of residences to locate any unattended packages, or individuals following delivery trucks to see where the truck is dropping off packages.

See something.
Say something.

Summaries of Supreme Court Case Law

Fourth Amendment: Detention based on taking an individual's driver license

People v. Linn (2015) 241 Cal. App. 4th 46

Rule: An officer's taking of a voluntarily offered driver's license does not automatically mean the encounter is casual. The court will look at the "totality of circumstances" to determine whether an individual was free to leave transforming the casual encounter into a detention.

- Officer did not conduct a traffic stop. Officer parked his motorcycle within three feet of the driver's car and approached her and asked for her driver's license.
- Officer made contact with the driver because the passenger of the vehicle was "flicking ashes out the window."
- Officer commanded driver to put out her cigarette and put down her soda can, thereby indicating that she was not free to do as she pleased, officer requested driver's license, and officer held the license as he initiated a record check of the driver.
- Officer conducted unexplained records check.
- Under the totality of circumstances, a reasonable person would not have felt free to leave.

Fourth Amendment: Consent to Search during Unlawful Arrest is Involuntary

People v. Espino (2016) 247 Cal. App. 4th 746

Rule: Defendant's consent to search his vehicle is involuntary when consent is obtained while under an unlawful arrest. (Conviction reversed.)

- Officer stopped defendant for speeding.
- Based on informant's tip and other factors, officers prolonged the traffic stop to conduct additional investigation.
- Defendant consented to search of his person and officers found an object they thought was crack. Defendant was handcuffed.
- After examining the object, an officer determined it was a diamond.
- Without removing the handcuffs, officers continued to question defendant and requested consent to search his car.
- After some hesitation, defendant gave consent for the car search, whereupon officers found several grams of methamphetamine in defendant's car.
